ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Using current technology, the 2 in 1 bread will be packaged as breads are currently packaged, in various weights however, the two kinds of bread will be separated in the package by a thin plastic divider. Both ends of the package will be open and secured by a twist tie, thus giving the public easy access to both ends. This gives the public access to their choice of bread enclosed in the package, instead of buying two or more loaves. This provides the public with an economical means of meeting their individual tastes and provides the public with more variety.
